

Ming Is The In Thing

Owners of Oriental-appearing vases have been wondering about the origins of their curios after a Niles woman said she had been offered $63,000 for a vase if it could be authenticated as a treasure from the 15th century Ming Dynasty. However, an official of the Chicago Art Institute said examination of photographs of the vase indicated it was a souvenir from the 1893 Columbian Exposition in Chicago. Meanwhile, attics and basements in some homes are getting careful searches—just in case.

ANOTHER POSSIBILITY: Another entry in the field of possible Ming Dynasty vases is displayed by Mrs. Josephine Wyman, of 1094 Jennings avenue, Benton Harbor. Mrs. Wyman said she has had the vase for 18 or 19 years. It was a gift from her brother in Detroit. (Staff photo)

LOOK ALIKE: Mrs. Joe Gagliardo of South Shore drive, Paw Paw lake, holds vase she has owned for 35 years and observed that it bears resemblance to picture of one at Niles. Mrs. Gagliardo said she also owns another similar vase. Both were given to her by a brother, who received it as gift while working in Chicago apartment house as a custodian. (Marion Leedy photo)

Niles Man Killed In Car-Truck Smashup

SOUTH BEND — A Niles man was killed Friday afternoon when the car he was driving crashed head-on into a truck on Auten road near Laurel road, 3½ miles north of South Bend, according to St. Joseph county, Ind., sheriff's deputies. Deputies said the victim was James Robert Dawson, 57, of 2912 South Third street, Niles. The driver of the truck, Thurston McKelvey, 47, of South Bend, told deputies he was westbound on Auten road when he saw the Dawson car, in the opposite lane, skid across the road and swerve into the westbound lane. McKelvey told police the other driver applied his brakes and tried to swerve out of the way but slid on the icy pavement and hit the truck head-on. The truck is owned by Express Freight Lines in South Bend. McKelvey was not hurt. Dawson is survived by his wife, Minnie. Funeral arrangements are being handled by the Pifer funeral home in Niles.

Westfield Returns To Post Office

After 23
Year Absence
He's Boss

By TOM BRUNDRETT
Staff Writer

George Westfield went to work for the Benton Harbor post office for the first time in 1945 as a mailroom employee and then quit six months later to go onto college.

Friday, after a 23-year absence, he returned to be sworn in to the $11,400-a-year job as acting postmaster.

Despite the threat of a short tenure, Westfield said, "I feel very excited about this. It will certainly be a new challenge for me. This opportunity to serve the citizens of Benton Harbor is quite an honor. It comes to very few people in a lifetime."

POLITICAL CLOUD

A cloud over the appointment stems from the Jan. 20 change-over from Democratic to Republican administrations in Washington D.C. The party in power controls postmaster appointments and Westfield is a member of the party going out.

Upon being nominated for the position in December, Westfield was optimistic about his chances for support from Republicans. He has not changed his mind. But spokesmen for the GOP so far doubt they can go along.

Named one of the five outstanding young men in the state in 1961 by the state Jaycees, Westfield said of the swearing in that only twice before had he been as nervous—when he was baptized and when he was married.

The oath was administered by Postal Inspector R.A. Weidauer who lives in Kalamazoo and works out of the Chicago branch of the Post Office department. It took four minutes to go through the page-long document.

Westfield's wife, Magnolia, and their daughter Crishondra, 10, were among the spectators. Others included Mrs. Delores Bergstrom, assistant Benton Harbor postmaster for 33 years; Berrien Probate Judge Ronald Lange, Circuit Judge Chester Byrns, St. Joseph banker John Stubblefield, Mayor Wilbert Smith, and Tat Parish, chairman of the county Democratic party.

The ceremony was held in the office of the late postmaster James Bowen in the post office on Territorial road. Bowen died last month.

Westfield said that when he first went to work for the post office after graduating from Benton Harbor high school his initial experience was as a guard.

"The man in charge gave me a .45 caliber automatic and told me to go to the station and guard the mail delivery," Westfield said. "I learned later that the shipment involved about $250,000."

Westfield, for 12 years employed in the juvenile probation section of the probate court, said he had applied for a one year's leave of absence to return to the post office. He is 41.

If the acting status goes longer, said Westfield, he would seek an extension.

The request is to be submitted by Judge Lange to the pension board of county employees.

'HIS VERY BEST'

The new acting postmaster said he would be at the post office early today to start learning his duties. His first regular day will be Monday.

Mrs. Westfield, said after her husband took the oath, "I'm very happy about this. I know George will do his very best. He always does."

The Westfields daughter, Crishondra, smiled. Their son, Gary, 12, was absent. He was practicing basketball at the junior high school. Westfield's mother, Mrs. Gertrude Westfield, was delayed in traffic and arrived just after the actual swearing-in ceremony occurred.

Snowmobile Hits Car; Man Killed

SAUGATUCK — Allegan county's first traffic fatality of the year was recorded this morning when a Holland man died of injuries he received last night in a snowmobile-car accident just north of Saugatuck.

Allegan county sheriff's deputies also said the death of Randall T. Pires, 29, of Holland, was the first fatal accident involving a snowmobile in the county.

Deputies said at 6:20 p.m. Friday night a snowmobile driven by Cornelius R. Start, 27, of Holland, was traveling north on the shoulder along Blue Star Memorial highway when it hit a pile of snow and flipped onto the road hitting a car. The car was driven by Cvetko Milenkovic, 62, of 127th street, Pennville, and was traveling south at the time of the accident.

Pires was a passenger on the snowmobile. He was taken to the Community hospital at Douglas and transferred to Holland hospital in critical condition with severe head and chest injuries. He died at 6:30 a.m. today. There were no other injuries.

Deputies said a second car was involved in the accident, but that it is not known how it was involved. They said the second car stopped, and then left the scene. Deputies said they would like to have the other driver's assistance in the investigation of the accident.

Funeral arrangements for Randall Pires are being handled by the Mulders funeral home in Holland.

AT ROSS FIELD Private Control Tower Studied As Possibility

The Twin Cities Airport board is expected to take a look at the possibilities offered by a privately-operated, temporary control tower facility to direct mounting air traffic at Ross field until the federal government can establish a permanent tower.

Airport Manager Edward Weisbruch said Board Chairman John Banyon instructed him to invite an Ohio firm to describe its control tower plan at the Jan. 23 board meeting.

Weisbruch explained that while Ross field has exceeded Federal Aviation Administration requirements for a government control tower operation for some time already, "the sooner we can expect a tower from the FAA would be about three years." FAA's shortage of funds to open new towers is the reason, he added.

The Ohio firm, located near Cleveland, will furnish a completely equipped control tower in a trailer at a price of $26,000 to $28,000, according to Weisbruch. Additionally it will furnish trained and licensed personnel to operate the tower at a price of approximately $40,000 annually for four controllers.

The matter of financing such an operation is the big problem, according to Weisbruch. The need of a tower to cope with the rising air traffic load has long since been established, he stated.

When the FAA installs a tower it pays all the costs.

On the assumption that the airport board probably could not stand the cost of a privately-operated tower, one local aviation enthusiast reportedly had approached some local industries earlier to see if the cost of the private tower could be financed through contributions.

Weisbruch said the airport board has some concern about a possible adverse effect of a private tower, even if it could be financed initially.

He explained if a private tower were installed there is the fear the FAA might bypass Ross field with a government tower when it does get funds to put one in.

According to Weisbruch, the local airport is 17th on the FAA's list for a tower now, but three years is the earliest a government tower could be expected.

The airport manager said the board has asked the FAA if it would staff a private tower with government controllers if the board would buy the trailer "tower". It was advised the FAA didn't have funds or personnel to send controllers here now.

The airport at Gary, Ind., currently is installing the entire package of trailer and operating personnel offered by the Ohio firm.

Test Case Launched In Berrien

Out-County
Bench Now
In St. Joe

By JERRY KRIEGER
County-Farm Editor

The right of the new Fifth district court to hear criminal cases outside of its boundaries—specifically, in the Berrien courthouse in St. Joseph—was denied Friday by one of the district's own judges.

This set the stage for a test case fight that was forecast even before the new court opened its doors Jan. 1. Presiding Fifth District Judge John Hamman, then a prosecutor, contended the law permits the court to sit outside its boundaries. Incoming Prosecutor Renald Taylor declared the court could not hear criminal matters in the courthouse.

APPEAL CASE STARTS

Judge Paul Pollard upheld a defense motion in an arraignment on a breaking and entering charge yesterday that the court has no jurisdiction to sit outside its own district.

The ruling brought an immediate move to appeal the question to circuit court, and is seen as one of the first test cases to be launched against unclear aspects of the new lower court act.

There are several other district courts in the state, including Kalamazoo county, where a district court that does not embrace a county seat has set up court in the county courthouse.

Presiding Judge Hamman of the Fifth district opened a courtroom in the courthouse on the strength of a state attorney general ruling that a second class district not covering a county seat may nevertheless hold court in the courthouse.

Berrien Prosecutor Taylor, who oddly enough will fight Judge Pollard's adverse ruling in the appeal move, earlier had cited another attorney general ruling to the effect the Fifth court could not hear cases outside its boundaries. The Fifth district embraces all of Berrien county except the Cities of St. Joseph and Benton Harbor.

Taylor, who noted that he will have to argue the opposite of what he feels on the issue, said he will ask the Berrien circuit judges for an emergency ruling on the appeal. He suggested an answer might be forthcoming in a week or 10 days.

Judge Pollard withheld the effect of his motion until the circuit court rules on Taylor's appeal.

Pollard's ruling came in the arraignment of Elmer Rose, Coloma, Friday afternoon. Rose's court-appointed attorney, Stuart F. Meek, Jr., moved for dismissal on the grounds the grounds of lack of jurisdiction.

LAW CITED

In granting the motion, Judge Pollard cited a section in the new state courts reorganization act that "venue in criminal actions for violations of state law . . . shall be in the district where the violation took place." He noted, too, there is no specific provision in the act for the court to sit outside the district.

Prosecutor Taylor had cited a section of the new act which grants district judges the same powers and jurisdiction justices of the peace had. He argued justices of the peace had power to sit outside their districts and that the new act thus passed the same power to district judges.

New Governor To Be His Own Man

The State of the State message handed to the legislature Thursday by William G. Milliken, the incoming Governor, is a better index of the man himself than his detailed opinion of what Michigan faces up to in the next few years ahead.

His comparatively brief speech touched on what he feels are major considerations.

He stated them in a broad outline, leaving the audience to guess as to when and to what extent he will present the details.

The approach pleased the audience, the least charitable comment being that the Governor-to-be soon must forsake generalities and get down to hard facts.

The principal area covered by Milliken came in this form:

A warning this is not the year for anyone to present high spending schemes unless he is first willing to risk citizen wrath in higher taxes to fund the undertaking. His budget, he added, might be somewhat fatter than the 1968-69 model, but balanced.

The natural resources bond issue approved to the tune of $435 million in last year's election will not be dissipated in pork barrel projects. Milliken did not define his conception of pork barreling, but presumably implied he will not countenance local interests picking away at the money in gravel train fashion.

Law enforcement must be stepped up and the same time be relieved of the good guys vs. the bad guys type of thinking which traditionally had enfolded this subject.

Urban affairs will occupy much of his time and thinking.

Plight Of The Aged

Everyone is familiar with that generation gap usually referred to in which the generations supposedly are so far apart in viewpoint that they do not recognize one another as inhabitants of the same planet. There is another generation gap, a big one, which may be considerably more important.

That is the offhand manner in which the United States treats its older inhabitants. Some observers have tried to cushion the blow by referring to this group as "senior citizens," but whatever the appellation, the older people in the United States are not getting an even break.

There is a smugness on the part of some people in shrugging off people living on social security or other retirement, which insinuates these people have been taken care of and have no further problems. Some retirement plans do provide for a comfortable income after gainful employment has ceased, but not all by any means.

Social security is one which does not, and in fact was intended as no more than a helping hand. Adding injury to insult is the fact persons on Social Security are not permitted to earn more than a token income from other sources before they forfeit the Social Security retirement they paid into for many years during their careers.

As if that is not slapping down the older folks quite hard enough, it is next to impossible for someone in his sixties or seventies, no matter how healthy, talented or able, to find any kind of regular employment.

Maybe this generation gap just sort of happened, and really wasn't planned that way; but, then, nobody seems to be doing anything about it, either.

This is a clear reference to the hornet's nest of problems besetting Detroit and other major population centers. In reminding his listeners that a man living in a remote area "can not sit smugly by, in tranquillity, while the cities sink in despair," Milliken struck deeply at the rural and suburban apathy which in large measure fertilizes the seed beds of discontent in crowded communities.

This comment is all the more remarkable when viewed against his background. Traverse City, his home town, by location and population mix, is about as far removed from urban blight as Barry Goldwater is from the SDS or the ADA.

Preceding Governors in recent years have touched on these problems and two of them were particular pets of Romney. These were natural resources and urban affairs.

Milliken, however, gave them a different treatment.

His predecessors stated the questions in pinpointed recommendations.

Milliken's approach is to remind his audience the problems are still with us but let's examine them more fully before dashing off on some Quixotic solution.

It is on another point, the one he discussed first in the greatest length, where Milliken let it be known he intends to fashion a sail from cloth of his own choosing.

He repudiated Romney's swan song message of Monday that conceivably one way to unravel the educational snarl is to put the parochial school system on a sink or swim basis.

The outgoing Governor said three days later that when he suggested the parochial schools should concentrate on religious subjects first and then decide if they could also afford secular education, he did not use "concentrate" to imply abandonment of the latter.

Milliken, very smartly, shied from any semantical dissertation to state his position that Lansing's posture on education essentially is one of money.

State aid for parochial schools, in his opinion, is simply one part of the total search for elusive dollars.

If such assistance can be squeezed into the budget, that's fine. If it can not be found at once, then continue the search in the next budget wrestling match. Do not, however, discard the proposition out of hand, he urges, because the private system does serve a worthwhile purpose.

Milliken did not put it openly, but we read his remarks to mean he thinks the entire educational breadbasket is lopsided at one end and full of holes at the other.

In this respect, he repeats Romney's thinking that the public tax dollar is spent unevenly and irrationally for education. Specifically, he focused attention again on the state aid formula and the anomaly of some school districts rich in valuation and low on kids, and others in the reverse situation.

The issue of parochial (public assistance for private schools) is in somewhat the same boat since some parishes parallel this public school district disparity.

Milliken was careful not to step into the parochial controversy as Romney did, but if we interpret his view on public school financing to be a problem in averaging out dollars with pupils, then logically, the extension can be taken with parochial aid.

All told, Milliken did a good job on his State of the State message.

In recent years, State of the State and State of the Union deliveries have become a lengthy, detailed delivery promising something to everyone.

But not omitting anything or anyone, the speaker cynically fashions a message he hopes will be remembered come the next election.

Supposedly this is good political fodder in spite of the fact of the public memory being notoriously short.

Milliken decided to stick with the essentials which will be with us for a long time to come.

Liverpool, England, has reduced its crime rate by installing television cameras to watch streets in troubled areas.

Inside Washington

WASHINGTON — The incoming 91st session of Congress will, in its two-year life, be asked to face responsibilities and make decisions that can be classified only as enormous, even in comparison with the heavy burdens national legislative bodies have borne in modern times.

Both the Senate and House remain solidly in control of their Democratic majorities and, with a Republican administration directing the executive branch of government, their attitudes must be picked carefully and fully explained if the charge of obstructionism is to be avoided.

There may be a few individual legislators who, for reasons of partisan advantage, will wish to establish a record of opposition to the Nixon administration. In the main, however, legislators are anxious to find ways by which the Democratic Congress and the Republican administration can cooperate in improving policies there never has been any doubt about his place in the history of America.

The high school honors of the year 1892 went to Bessie Donaldson, valedictorian and Cora Kissingner, salutatorian.

The year of his birth, long thought to have been 1757, now seemingly has been established by probate court records as 1755. He was born in the British colony of Nevis, in the Leeward Islands of the British West Indies.

At 17, his mother died and his father being away, he was sent to New York by relatives and entered King's College (now Columbia) in 1774. In college he brought attention to himself by his advocacy of the patriot cause. As the revolutionary movement gained headway, "he was borne into its full current."

He served under General George Washington on Long Island, Trenton and Princeton. General Washington made him his confidential secretary and in this capacity he used his "true weapon, the pen."

From the first, Hamilton insisted that democracy should have a highly centralized authority, with power for every exigency. He early proposed a constitutional convention that would organize the formation of such a government as he felt necessary.

After the war, he helped organize the bank of New York and served briefly in Congress. His essays, known as "The Federalist," did much to clarify the meaning of the proposed Constitution.

Because Robert Morris proved unavailable in 1789, Hamilton was appointed secretary of the Treasury, a position which represented the climax of his career.

Hamilton was killed in a duel with Aaron Burr July 12, 1804. Others born today include Eva La Gallienne and William James.

..And Speaking Of Your Health

An important side light on the problem of persistent bed-wetting was reported by a Canadian physician. Enuresis is the technical term for bed-wetting, the causes of which are many. Rarely is there an anatomical reason why children persist in bed-wetting.

Before any treatment is attempted, this must be completely ruled out by a general examination and X-rays of the urinary tract.

Undoubtedly, the most common cause for this condition is some kind of psychological disturbance, anxiety, or the result of too early and too much pressure by the parents to become 'dry'. It is astonishing how subtle are the reasons that make a growing child find emotional security by returning to the bed-wetting of their infancy. A new baby in the home, with the sibling rivalry that accompanies it, is a frequent reason.

Gadgets, electronic devices and sounds that wake a child at regular intervals have all been tried with moderate success. Too great anxiety by the parents to break the habit frequently reflects on the child and exaggerates bed-wetting.

Dr. John W. Gerrard of the University of Saskatchewan, came to an interesting conclusion that bed-wetting may be caused by a food allergy. He has, in twenty-five cases, restricted the diets of both boys and girls and was remarkably enthusiastic about the improvement in this condition.

I have reported in these columns excellent results with a drug, imipramine. Dr. Gerrard has used this drug, in addition to tracking down food allergies, and finds that he is able to avoid protracted treatment when both of these approaches are used.

Aspirin is accepted as a remarkable drug and is probably used with greater consistency than any other drug for simple uncomplicated problems. It is with great respect for its value, that I write about the fact that it can be potentially harmful to people with a known ulcer of the stomach or upper intestine. It can also be harmful to those who do not have gross evidence of ulcers. It has been well established that a flare-up of an ulcer or bleeding from the upper intestinal tract are often traced to large doses of aspirin.

Why aspirin affects the delicate lining of the stomach has been studied by Dr. William B. Thorsen Jr. and his colleagues at the University of Wisconsin. They suspect that the changes in the lining of the stomach occur more readily when there is an excess amount of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. The study seems to indicate that the acid, rather than the aspirin, may be responsible for the damage to the stomach lining. Until this is verified it is suggested that aspirin be eliminated by those who have any indication of stomach ulcers.

There probably is no better testimonial to medical cooperation than the speed with which the United States Public Health Service and pharmaceutical companies entered into the project of producing the new "Hong King" vaccine. These large industries were shown the need and set their sights on the emergency production with an all-out effort that now appears to be successful.

The vaccine will be ready in time to protect the elderly and the infirm from this flu disease.

Opening lead — ten of spades. Let's say you're declarer at six notrump and West leads the ten of spades. There seems to be very little to the play of the hand, so you win the spade with the ace and lead a low heart, finessing the jack.

East takes the king and returns a spade to the queen, but when you return to your hand with a low heart to the queen, West shows out and you find that the hand is not quite as simple as you thought at the start.

You have eleven sure tricks and your only hope now is to guess which way to take the two-way club finesse. If you're a good guesser, you make the slam, but, actually, you should not be in this predicament because proper play at the beginning of the hand would have guaranteed the contract 100 percent.

The correct method of play is to lead a low heart to the ace at trick two, deliberately rejecting the finesse. Regardless of how the hearts prove to be divided, you can now be certain of twelve tricks.

Let's first look at the actual case. You continue with a low heart from dummy at trick three. East cannot afford to go up with the king, since that would present you with four heart tricks, so you win the heart with the queen.

Even though West shows out you are still in fine shape because all you now have to do to acquire a twelfth trick is lead a club to the ace and finesse the jack on the way back. Win or lose, you have twelve ironclad tricks.

Had West shown up with four hearts to the K-10, your task would have been that much simpler. East would fall on the second heart lead and you would easily score four heart tricks. The question of a club finesse would not enter the picture at all. You would have tricks to burn.

BERRIEN PONDERING FOOD INSPECTION FEES

Jail Will Finally Use New Trays

Sheriff Jewell Settles Tempest In Food Pot

By TOM BRUNDRETT
Staff Writer

New divided food trays for prisoners in the Berrien county jail in St. Joseph are gathering dust.

The 300 stainless steel trays, especially made to fit a smaller-than-normal opening in cell doors, are boxed and stacked in the basement of the jail — unused since arriving in October, 1967.

Sheriff Forrest (Nick) Jewell, who took office Jan. 1, said he plans on getting the trays into use as soon as he can, but first he said he must ask the reorganized county board of supervisors for heated serving carts to carry them.

BOUGHT UNDER PROTEST

The trays were bought by the county under protest to replace undivided bread pan-type containers which have been used for years. The old containers were ordered out by state jail inspector Robert Russell.

The inspector in a surprise visit to the jail in December, 1966, said the old type container allowed the food to mix together and become unappetizing in appearance.

If the food is unappetizing, the prisoners' morale is low, said Russell. They become more discontented.

At the same time, the inspector criticized the lack of heated carts to assure the food is hot when served. But he stopped short of saying the trays could not be used without new carts too.

Because of Russell's visit, three new matrons were hired to increase care of female prisoners and the trays ordered. The trays, with special rounding of the edges to make them narrow enough to fit through the cell door openings, were purchased in August, 1967 for $1,635.

Supervisors such as Ivan Price of Buchanan township and A. Sheridan Cook of Niles labeled the trays dangerous. Cook said the trays could be used as weapon by a prisoner and because of their weight could be lethal.

Price was chairman of the old board's key finance committee. Cook, who is now a member of the new board, was second-in-command of the same committee.

Despite the warnings, the trays were ordered in a 42-2 vote. They are seven by 14 1/2 inches.

Former Sheriff Henry Griese blamed the non-use of the trays on the old finance committee.

"I asked them to buy three heated carts," said Griese now a bailiff in the county's new third circuit judgeship. "But they wouldn't. They told me to send the inspector to them if he came back and questioned the non-compliance."

Griese said the present carts in the jail could not be used with the trays. They won't fit, he commented.

MORALE BOOSTER

Jewell said he believes use of the divided trays will help the morale of the prisoners. But he needed to get the food to them hot. He said he has already explained the need to the committee now handling financing and he expects no problem. Specifications are being obtained now, he said.

The new sheriff, who served as a deputy on the department for 12 years before unseating Griese in the Republican primary, said he intends to watch prisoner food closely to determine quality and quantity.

According to Jewell he had his first sampling of the food last Saturday. The food was adequate but he acknowledged the food mixed together in the undivided pot.

SMC Course Start Delayed

DOWAGIAC —The first class meeting and registration for the "electrical theory and code" course scheduled last Thursday at Southwestern Michigan college was postponed one week because of bad weather and poor road conditions.

The class has been rescheduled for next Thursday with registration to begin at 7 p.m. in the vocational building at SMC. The class will help prepare students for the state licensing examination on the national electrical code.

NEW TRAYS GATHER DUST: Purchased in 1967, these trays, specially made to fit cell doors in the Berrien county jail, have been gathering dust in the basement of the jail. Former Sheriff Henry Griese said he did not use the trays because the county finance committee refused to buy heated carts needed to carry them to the prisoners. New Sheriff Forrest (Nick) Jewell said the trays will be put into use as soon as the carts are acquired. The trays are 7 1/2 by 14 1/2 inches. (Staff photo)

OLD-TYPE PANS: Bread-pan containers for serving food to prisoners in the Berrien county jail are finally on the way out. Specifications for heated carts to carry a new divided trays are being sought. (Staff photo)

Two Men Wounded By Gunshots At BH Party

Two men were shot and wounded, one critically, last night at a house party at 621 East High street, Benton Harbor.

Police reported a witness said a gun was fired in the air outside as two guests arrived. Police were not informed of this shot but later they were called after gunfire erupted inside the home during an argument.

In critical condition in Mercy hospital today was Otha Harris, 36, of 151 Catalpa avenue, Benton Harbor. In fair condition was his brother Charles, 22, of 568 Pavone street, Benton Harbor, who was struck in the upper stomach.

Otha Harris underwent emergency surgery after being rushed to the hospital, where he received nine pints of blood. He was struck in the lower stomach region by what police said was a small caliber revolver bullet.

Sought for questioning in the shootings was a man identified by officers as Jerry Jackson, 25, of 211 South Hull avenue. Officers were told he left the house after two men were shot.

Police said the shooting occurred at the home of Ardel Davis.

Det. Neil Teske and Sgt. Alfred Edwards said Mrs. Otha Harris told them she and her husband were enroute to Jackson's home when they saw his car at the East High street residence and stopped. They entered the house on Jackson's invitation.

Mrs. Harris said Jackson was outside the house when they stopped and that a gun was fired then.

Also Covers Vending Machines

Tough New State Sanitation Law Will Take Effect

By BRANDON BROWN
Staff Writer

The Berrien county health board and Berrien supervisors may pass next week on license fees for food establishments and certain vending machines covered by a tough new state sanitation law.

The Berrien health board next Tuesday is expected to hear various methods of setting fees from Earle Olsen, chief environmentalist for the county health department.

The health board may present its recommendations to county supervisors Thursday.

VAGUE LAW OUT

The new law, spelled out in detail through federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare sanitation codes, replaces a more vague state law that did not cover vending machines nor require licensing, Olsen said.

Restaurant sanitation codes until now have been enforced here by city and Michigan Department of Agriculture state food inspection division inspectors, according to Sam Hansen, food inspection division regional supervisor.

Food establishments and vending machines dispensing perishable foods must be licensed by May 1 of this year, relicensed annually and inspected at least twice a year.

License fees probably will be patterned on state minimum fees of $2 per machine and $25 per restaurant, cafeteria, grill or other food establishment.

Olsen said, his department will be charged with inspecting an estimated 500-plus establishments and probably several hundred vending machines.

He asked vending machine operators in Berrien to send him a postcard to facilitate licensing and inspection.

The law requires vendor operators to apply for and pay for licenses for machines dispensing perishable and bulk foods such as soft drinks and coffee and hot chocolate in cups, sandwiches and milk.

Not covered are dispensers of peanuts, canned and bottled soft drinks, wrapped candy, cigarettes, packaged popcorn and potato chips and other nonperishable foods.

Licensing and inspection also covers fixed and mobile cafeterias, restaurants, coffee shops, cafes, grills, soda fountains, taverns, night clubs, catering kitchens, commissaries and private organizations serving the public.

Temporary food-handling establishments open to the public, such as fraternal dinners, club picnics and church or social dinners, may have to be licensed depending on directives from them Michigan Department of Health, Olsen said.

The law declares, however, that religious and charitable organizations, schools and other educational institutions are exempt from license fees but not other provisions of the law.

MANY THINGS COVERED

The new law covers the design, construction and sanitary maintenance of food handling and related equipment, temperatures of food preparation, storage and dispensing, lighting, and the health, dress and cleanliness of workers, among others.

Violators may be found guilty of misdemeanors. No food establishment or specified vending machine may be operated without a license after April 30.

The new law does not cover state and county fairs, groceries, slaughterhouses, packing plants, processing plants, soft drink plants, bakeries, brining stations, roadside stands and others under the jurisdiction of the state agriculture department's food inspection division.

Agriculture department inspectors will continue to inspect restaurants probably annually to assure high quality and proper branding of foods, Hansen said. They will discontinue their sanitation inspections.

PLANTS EVACUATED

HOLLAND (AP) — A bomb threat Friday afternoon caused the evacuation of the Bechtel Company plant in Holland but no explosives were found when police and firemen searched.

Employees waited in the snow outside while the search, set off by an anonymous phone call, was conducted.

WILL LICENSE, INSPECT: Machines vending perishable foods, such as the one examined here by Earle Olsen of Berrien County Health department, as well as restaurants and other food establishments must be licensed after April 30 under new state sanitation law. County health departments will enforce it in many cases. (Staff photo)

Purse Snatcher Drags Woman, 75, In Snow

A 75-year-old Benton Harbor woman was dragged through the snow in front of her home and her purse jerked from her hands about 3:30 p.m. Friday by a lone thief.

Taken into custody by Benton Harbor police within two hours of the assault was Robert Allen, 18, of 368 Vineyard street. He was arrested at his home.

The victim, Mrs. Fred (Lenia) Stock, 75, who lives in a downstairs apartment at 389 Maple street, Benton Harbor, said, "It surprised me so. If I hadn't fallen down I think I could have held onto the purse until my husband could have seen us."

Mrs. Stock's husband was parking their car in the driveway beside the house after returning from shopping. Mrs. Stock had stepped out of the car at the sidewalk and had just turned up the walkway to the door when her purse containing $9 was grabbed.

Mrs. Stock said she did not require medical treatment because of the attack. But she said today that her left shoulder was aching and an ankle was swollen. She said her nose started to bleed during the struggle.

Mrs. Stock said the assailant grabbed the purse which she had in her left hand. She said she clamped her right hand onto the purse and turned.

"How I fell down, I don't know," said Mrs. Stock. "But he kept jerking on the purse as he dragged me through the snow."

Mrs. Stock estimated she was dragged 10 feet before she had to let go.

"I don't remember being hit by him," she added.

THEY GO HUNTING

Mrs. Stock said she screamed when the assailant grabbed the purse. But she said her husband was about 40 feet away, hidden by a corner of the building and didn't hear her.

After the assailant fled onto Cedar street, Mrs. Stock said she and her husband drove around the block to see if they could find him.

"It's just getting terrible," said Mrs. Stock. "Here it was a beautiful afternoon. The sun was shining. And then right in front of my own home." Police booked Allen on a charge of unarmed robbery. They were to confer today with the Berrien county prosecutor's office about further proceedings.

The arrest followed an investigation by Benton Harbor detectives and uniformed officers.

Crash Near Paw Paw Hurts Four

PAW PAW — A ten-month-old baby was hospitalized and three persons treated and released at Paw Paw Lake View Community hospital yesterday following a three-car crash about 7:30 a.m. east of Paw Paw on Red Arrow highway.

State police said Candy Briggs, 10 months, route 2, Hartford, was admitted to the hospital with a broken leg. Treated and released were Brenda Briggs, 2, who received a broken collarbone; Ruth Moon, 20, route 2, Hartford, who received face cuts and cuts on the leg; and Orin H. Small, 61, route 2, Lawrence, who received cuts and bruises.

Troopers said Ruth Moon was the driver of a car which veered across the road and struck a vehicle driven by Small. The Moon car then spun around and collided with another car driven by Phillip Lee, 25, Mattawan.

The two Briggs girls were passengers in the Moon car. Not injured, according to police, were two other Briggs children, Doyle, age 4, and Mary, 3. Lee was not injured, said police.

Officers said Ruth Moon was issued a summons for driving left of the center line of the highway.

ON ICE

Three Fined For Clinging To Car

Hanging on to a car while you slide on the ice might be fun — but it's also dangerous and costly, according to St. Joseph police.

Police saw three college students sliding on Lakeview avenue last week and ticketed them "for clinging to a motor vehicle." The female driver of the car was cited for careless driving.

Fined $10, plus $6 costs by District Judge Harry Laity were Mary Margaret Pawling, 21, of 1419 Forbes avenue; Robert Vincent O'Reilly, 20, of 2211 Lakeview avenue; Michael F. Wellbourne, 20, of 2700 Lake Shore drive, and John M. Wismer, 20, of 1624 Lakeshore.

Demolition Hearings Set In SJ

St. Joseph city commission will hold hearings on the fate of three houses facing demolition and will consider the plans to repair another at its meeting 7:30 p.m. Monday.

The buildings facing removal are at 311 Wayne street; 521 Wayne street and 703 Columbia avenue. The inspection department has reported the houses have deteriorated beyond repair, and have recommended demolition.

Richard Ludwig, of the Ludwig Real Estate firm, has been requested to outline plans for repairs to a building at 1117 Niles avenue.

City Manager Al Pierce said architect John Snell, who drew the plans for the city's proposed $347,000 marina, told him in a telephone conversation that the Waterways commission approved the appropriation of an additional $42,000 in a meeting in Lansing Wednesday. Pierce said he has not received official notification of this action, however.

Pierce added that the money will not be made available to the city until it is approved by the legislature sometime in March or April.

In the meantime, plans are underway for a pre-construction conference between the hired contractor, Canonic Construction Co. of South Haven, and the council. Contracts will be officially signed then and Pierce said that construction will begin soon afterward.

The Waterways commission is sharing the cost of the project with the city on a 50-50 basis, but the money appropriated last year for the marina was $84,000 short of the lowest bid.

South Haven Gets Funds For Marina

SOUTH HAVEN — Additional funds to help South Haven in the construction of a more expensive marina have been approved by the Michigan Waterways commission, it was revealed here yesterday through unofficial channels.

City Manager Al Pierce said architect John Snell, who drew the plans for the city's proposed $347,000 marina, told him in a telephone conversation that the Waterways commission approved the appropriation of an additional $42,000 in a meeting in Lansing Wednesday. ## Experimenting Tigers Rip Crusaders, 66-43

By JIM DeLAND
Sports Editor

Benton Harbor's Tigers are still on top in the Lake Michigan Athletic Conference, and coach Ace Elsner is still looking for the combination that could unlock the door to the throne room.

"We're still experimenting. . . put it that way," Elsner grinned Friday night after watching the Tigers flatten Muskegon Catholic Central 66-43 with a fourth-quarter knockout punch to retain sole possession of first place in the LMAC basketball race.

It was the third victory in three LMAC outings for the Tigers and gives them an overall 4-2 record to take into tonight's non-conference battle against Grand Rapids Catholic Central at the Colfax gym.

So far Elsner has used five different starting lineups in the Tigers' six games, and he may have to come up with another one tonight after seeing Lionel Moltimore burst into bloom against Muskegon Catholic.

Moltimore, a 6-5 senior who didn't even play last week against Loy Norrix, came off the bench in the first quarter to score 19 points and haul down 15 rebounds while contributing some of the most sensational plays in the victory over the Crusaders.

"He's still a little slow in his movements, and he slows down our fast break by hugging those rebounds like Alcindor, but we can overlook some of those things if he plays like he did tonight," Elsner said happily.

Three other Tigers also hit double figures and took turns supplying the scoring power as Benton Harbor led from start to finish and blew the game wide open by outpacing the Crusaders 28-10 in the final 11 minutes of play.

Don Hopkins shook off a butterflyfingered start to toss in 14 points — 11 in the second half — while Larry Sanders scored 13 and Bobby Atkinson 12 of his first starting assignment since the opening game of the season.

Sanders, the Tigers' chief outside threat, bombed in seven points in the first period but suddenly developed a cold hand and wisely restricted most of his efforts to setting up his teammates, including a sensational blind drop pass that Moltimore turned into a three-point play.

Atkinson proved unstoppable on deft driving layups and also displayed a knack for long passes to an open man that produced several cheap baskets.

Muskegon used a pesky 1-3-1 zone with a diamond-and-one zone press after each basket to prevent the Tigers from really getting anything going until the final three minutes of the third quarter.

Smith scored 20 points in the first three periods while hitting 9 of 18 shots from mortar distance, but connected on only one of five in the final quarter as the Tigers pulled away.

Buffy guard Elijah Winston also rifled in a few long ones at the start and ended the game with nine points, but the remainder of the Crusader squad contributed only 12 points while hitting 5 of 23 shots.

Muskegon used a pesky 1-3-1 zone with a diamond-and-one zone press after each basket to prevent the Tigers from really getting anything going until the final three minutes of the third quarter.

By then the Tigers' hounding man-to-man press was beginning to take its toll against the Crusaders, who turned the ball over 13 times in the second half and hit only seven of 29 shots in the same interval.

Benton Harbor called time out with a slim 38-33 lead and 3:02 remaining in the third quarter, then came back to boost the margin to 45-35 by the end of the period with Hopkins netting five of the seven points.

From then on it was strictly no contest as the Tigers built their advantage to 55-37 in the first two minutes of the final period with the help of Moltimore's three-point play and later ran off the last nine points of the game to make the rout official. The ability to get inside for high percentage shots made the difference for the Tigers, who fired only one more time than the Crusaders but hit 27 of 56 for a neat .482 average while Muskegon Catholic was netting only 19 of 55 (.345).

The Tigers also had an advantage in free throws, sinking 12 of 20 while their visitors dropped 5 of 12, and won a 37-27 advantage in rebounds with Houston Horace snaring nine.

Al Snyder's Tiger Cubs achieved similar success in the preliminary game as they whipped the Crusader reserves 68-41. John Gorton led the way with 15 points while Chester Dossett scored 12, Rodney Rhodes 11 and Cass Bridgman 10. Ricky Howell was high for Catholic with 12 points.

FOX SCORES 35 IN 105-63 ROUT OF CASS

Berrien Alive And Kicking

By JOHN VANDEN HEEDÉ
Staff Sports Writer

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Rejoice Berrien Springs fans. Your Shamrocks are alive and kicking. They waltzed over Cassopolis 105-63 here Friday night in their own version of a Charity Ball.

The century performance marked the highest output by a Berrien Springs team in 13 seasons. And in wiping out bitter memories of two straight defeats, the Shamrocks once again showed promise of living up to pre-season billings.

Denny Fox, Denny Rusch and Mark Boehm led the Grand March on the century mark, as the Shamrocks burned the nets from both the floor and the free throw lines.

Fox, the defending Blossomland scoring champion, came up with a career high of 35 points as teammates set him up for several easy layups off the fast break.

And Rusch, the southwestern Michigan scoring leader, dumped in 27, while Boehm came through with another 20.

The easy fast break baskets helped to bring Berrien's field goal average up to a fine 51 per cent (38 of 75). And an excellent 78 per cent mark (29 of 37) from the charity lines was built on a string of 17 straight free throws in the final half.

"The kids worked hard all week . . . we had a couple of three hours sessions," commented McNeely afterwards. "We just knuckled down to some good hard basketball. I think the important thing was that we started to run."

McNeely didn't pull his starters until after Rusch made a free throw to reach the century mark with 1:28 left to play. He wanted the 100 points in order to give his boys a psychological lift.

Probably playing as big a role as anyone in returning the Shamrocks to the form demonstrated a year ago in a 15-5 season was John Jessup. The senior guard has been slow rounding into shape because of knee surgery during the football campaign, but he scored a season high of 12 points Friday. His long, outside shots in the third quarter helped to force the Rangers out of their 1-2-2 zone.

Cassopolis also had a deadeye outside shooter in Floyd Foster, who paced the Rangers with 21 points. Teammate Bernard Thomas, who came into the game with a 21.3 average as the area's No. 2 scorer, was held to 15 tallies.

Cass led briefly in the game at 1-0, 3-1 and 5-3, but after the score was tied for the last time at 16-16, Fox hit a free throw with four seconds remaining in the opening period to put Berrien on top for good.

It remained tight through the first four minutes of the second period with the Shamrocks holding only a 27-25 margin. Berrien's zone press and free throws then provided the death blows for Cass. The Rocks scored 23 of the next 27 points, including 13 in a row to close the period, for an overwhelming 50-29 halftime margin.

Fox tallied 13 points in the period and Rusch, a 6-8 center, added eight as Berrien netted a perfect 15 for 15 in the charity department.

Cass poured through the first eight points of the third quarter with Foster bombing in, three long ones, yet Berrien still recovered for a 26-22 scoring edge in the period.

The Rocks led 76-51 entering the final frame but went scoreless the first two minutes and 15 seconds. They caught fire at that point and scored 29 of the final 35 points, including streaks of 10 and 12 in a row.

Fox, a 6-0 guard, ended up hitting 13 of 25 field goals and nine of 10 free throws. Rusch was 10 for 17 from the floor and seven on nine on charities, while Boehm hit eight of 14 in field goals and four of five in charities.

Rusch and Boehm, a 6-3 forward, also led Berrien to a 40 to 31 edge in rebounding with 17 and 10, respectively. Thomas had nine and George Bennett eight to top the Rangers.

Cass hit on 28 of 73 field goal attempts for a 38 per cent mark, but only on seven of 20 free throws for a 35 per cent average.

Berrien is now 2-1 in the Blossomland and 4-2 overall. Cassopolis is still winless in league play at 0-3 and 1-4 on the season.

The last time Berrien Springs soared over the century mark was in a 112-75 victory over Coloma during the 1955-56 season. McNeely was a member of that team which reached the state Class C championship game before losing for a final 23-1 record.

Berrien also won Friday's jayvee tilt 50-44 with Tom Lunneen leading the way with 21 points. William Lee and Bill Hawthorne sparked the Rangers with 20 and 11, respectively.

Area Games

Southwestern Michigan basketball endured another "sock it to me" session from old man weather Friday with 10 of 19 scheduled games being postponed.

It followed a wipe out of Tuesday's entire six-game slate and left 11 of the area's 33 teams with two postponements this week.

Covert and Bloomingdale will try again tonight on a schedule which now includes eight games. Other tentative dates for games called off last night are Grandywine at Lakeshore, Jan. 15; St. John's at Decatur, Jan. 15; St. Joe Catholic at Hartford, Jan. 14; Coloma at River Valley, Jan. 21; Gobles at Lawrence, Feb. 4; Hopkins at Martin, Jan. 28; Saugatuck at Lawton, Jan. 18; Mattawan at Bangor, Jan. 14, and Fennville at Delton, Jan. 22.

No new date has been set for the Edwardsburg at Buchanan tilt.

Ferris St. Belts
Superior, 100-83

BIG RAPIDS (AP)—Ferris State rallied from a nine-point halftime deficit Friday night to whip Lake Superior State 100-83 in college basketball.

High man for Ferris, which was down 46-39 at the intermission, was Jesse Mangam, who had 28 points before fouling out with six minutes to play.

Ferris' record now is 6-2, Lake Superior's 7-5.

FLICK OF WRIST: With a flick of the wrist, Benton Harbor's Lionel Moltimore (35) lobbs in underhand scoop shot in first half of Friday's game against Muskegon Catholic. Moltimore scored 19 points and grabbed 15 rebounds to pace Tigers in 66-43 victory. At right is Muskegon Catholic's Larry Smith (31), who scored 22 points in losing cause. (Redman & Ames photo)

New Panther Coach Loses
Overtime Chiller To Galien

GALIEN — Watervliet's Panthers made a supreme effort to launch new coach Jerry Selvidge's career on a winning note, but they couldn't quite pull it off here Friday night.

The winless Panthers clawed their way into overtime on a last-second shot by Dave Day, but they were outscored 16-7 in the extra session and tumbled to a 76-67 loss to Galien.

It was a wild and nerve-jangling debut for Selvidge, who took over as head coach after Joe Treat resigned for reasons of health following last Friday's 65-53 loss to New Buffalo — the Panthers' fifth defeat of the season and 13th in a row over the past two campaigns.

During Treat's tenure of slightly over two years, the Panthers had won only four games while losing 35, but they won the praise of even Galien coach Jim Anderson for their efforts to start a new era here last night.

"That Watervliet club really hustled," Anderson said in admiration. "They pounded the boards and gave us all we wanted. They really didn't deserve to lose."

It appeared the Panthers might refuse to lose when Day swished a jump shot from the free throw line in the final second of play to knot the score at 60-60 and give them extra life.

But once the overtime started it was all over for Watervliet as the Gaels scored four baskets the first three times they had the ball and then rang in nine free throws as the desperate Panthers fouled in an attempt to get the ball.

Ron Habel started the Gaels on their way to victory by pumping in the first two baskets of the overtime period and Tom Wright added two more when he was fouled while sinking one shot, missed the free throw but grabbed the rebound and tossed it back in for another basket.

Watervliet meanwhile had scored only one free throw and was unable to get back into contention despite a furious press that only aggravated the Panthers' already-serious foul situation.

The Gaels' front-line trio carried the major scoring load in the battle of 2-1-2 zone defenses, with Wright dumping in 26 points, Habel 19 and Canfield 16 to account for 61 of the team's 76 points.

Canfield also hauled down 13 rebounds and Wright 10, while Habel provided the impetus in overtime with nine points.

Center Bob McVay and forward Greg Rudell shared scoring honors for Watervliet with 14 points apiece, while Day tallied 10.

Watervliet won the battle of the boards 45-37 with Rudell snagging a dozen, but Galien offset the deficit by using a zone press most of the game to badger the Panthers into 27 turnovers.

Pouls actually proved the final downfall for the Panthers, who were whistled down 27 times and lost three of their starters while giving the Gaels the winning points at the free throw line.

Galien outscored Watervliet by a shopping 21 points on free throws, sinking 2 of 48 while the Panthers picked up only five points in 12 attempts on the Gaels' 10 fouls.

From the field Galien got more shots but fewer points, connecting on 25 of 80 for a 31 per cent average while Watervliet hit 40 per cent on 31 of 78.

The victory gives the Gaels a 2-3 record in the Red Arrow conference and even their overall slate at 3-3 for the season. Watervliet remains winless at 0-6 in the league and overall.

Galien's jayvees made a clean sweep of the evening by trimming the Panther reserves 64-43 with Bob Luther leading the way.

EAU CLAIRE SHATTERS RECORD, 106-70!

NEW BUFFALO — Eau Claire continued to make shambles of Red Arrow opposition with a record-breaking 106-70 victory over New Buffalo here Friday night.

Coach Jon Frye's Beavers topped the previous single game team scoring record of 97-75 in a 97-75 triumph over Galien.

Eau Claire has now demolished five straight Red Arrow foes by a whopping margin of 27 points per game. Hartford has come the closest while losing 58-42. The Beavers are average 79.6 points per outing in conference tilts.

All five of Eau Claire's starters scored in double figures Friday night against the out-named Beavers. Rich Haskins led the way with 27 points, while Greg Prillwitz added 23, Don Grabemeyer 20, Ray Rowerman 19 and Dennis Prillwitz 13.

The Beavers slammed a zone press on their hosts and forced a damaging 47 turnovers by the losers. They also commanded the boards with a solid 73 to 59 rebounding edge.

New Buffalo's Gary Gooch came through with a fine individual effort of 26 points and 12 rebounds, while teammate Larry Hardaway pulled off 18 rebounds and scored 19 markers.

Gary Robertson was also on his way to a good night with 11 points and 10 rebounds before fouling out in the second quarter.

Eau Claire leaped into a 29-13 first quarter lead, only to see New Buffalo use a zone press of its own to narrow the margin to 35-30 during the second period. The Beavers emerged with a 24-22 scoring edge in the frame but still trailed 51-39 at halftime.

And it was all Eau Claire in the second half with scoring margins of 22-17 and 33-14 over the final two quarters. In the fourth period, New Buffalo went from the 4:02 mark to the 51 seconds spot without a point.

Eau Claire fired 91 times at the baskets and connected 41 times for a fine 45 per cent average. New Buffalo meshed 24 of 71 fielders for a 34 per cent mark. At the free throw lines, the Beavers netted 24 of 46 and the Bisons 22 of 38.

Eau Claire now stands on top of the Red Arrow at 5-0 in league play and 5-1 overall. New Buffalo is 2-3 in the conference and 2-4 on the season.

New Buffalo did salvage a victory in Friday's junior varsity preliminary by 50-42 count. Gene Schroeder sparked the Bison jayvees with 18 points, while Eau Claire's Mc-

Alfee took game honors with 24 tallies.

Loan Firm Aids Area Students

SOUTH HAVEN —Loans for area college students have been provided through Van Buren Savings & Loan Association, it was announced during the annual meeting and election of officers here this week.

President Arthur H. Clarke, Jr., said yesterday the board of directors has agreed to provide student loans, effective immediately, under a federal government program that insures the local lending institution for the loan.

Clarke noted that the program "involves a lot of red tape" but that the board has added it as an additional service to the students in the South Haven, Bangor, Covert and Fennville areas.

During the annual meeting, it was reported that 1968 growth in savings in Van Buren Savings & Loan was 12.1 per cent, which was about twice that of the national average. "We feel we had a very good year in service to the community," Clarke commented.

During the election of officers, Lewis Chappell was re-elected chairman of the board and Clarke was re-elected company president and secretary.

Richard Appleyard was elected first vice-president; Chester Russell, second vice-president; and Arlene Ditch, treasurer and assistant secretary. Re-elected to three-year terms on the board were Robert Alm, Ed Amrein and Dale Brown.

Clarke said the size of the board was reduced from 12 to 11 members with the retirement of Cornelius Bus. He noted that the size of the board will eventually be reduced to nine members as members retire or leave.

Bus was made an honorary member of the board.

Youth Hurt In 2-Car Accident

Larry Allen Sing, 17, of 1178 Marquette Woods road, rural St. Joseph, was hospitalized Friday afternoon following a two-car accident on Washington avenue, 300 yards north of Susan drive.

Berrien County sheriff's deputies said Sing was admitted to Memorial Hospital for possible head injuries and cuts. He was reported today in fairly good condition.

Henry Gietler, 49, of 1460 North Aurora drive, St. Joseph, driver of the other car, was treated and released.

Deputy R.L. Gilson said the Sing car was northbound on Washington and skidded into southbound lane when Sing braked to slow for traffic. The Gietler car hit the right side of the Sing car, Gilson said.

Gilson described the road at the time of the accident as "extremely hazardous" because of ice and snow.

U.S. Sues Big Four Car Makers

Claim They Stalled On Anti-Pollution

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department sued the Big Four automakers Friday, charging they conspired to stifle development of devices to control air pollution by automobiles.

The civil suit was filed in Los Angeles against General Motors Corp., Ford Motor Co., Chrysler Corp., American Motors Corp. and the Automobile Manufacturers Association, a trade organization.

It charged that since 1953 they had engaged in unlawful agreements to restrain trade and eliminate competition, in violation of the Sherman Antitrust Act.

CHARGES DENIED

The companies and the association issued statements denying they had restrained trade. Instead, they said, they have cooperated to speed development of antipollution devices.

The Justice Department charged they agreed: —To eliminate competition among themselves in the development and installation of pollution control equipment.

—To eliminate competition in buying patents and patent rights for such equipment.

—To agree on a date for installing pollution control equipment and install it uniformly.

—To delay the installation of certain equipment which was workable.

—And to restrict publicity about research and development of pollution control devices.

The suit said the defendants could have installed positive crankcase ventilation devices on cars sold outside California in 1962, but agreed not to do it until 1963.

In early 1962 and 1963, it said the four companies agreed to delay the use of an improved positive crankcase ventilation device on cars sold in California.

The suit charged that in early 1964 the companies agreed to let California pollution authorities a device to control exhaust pollution could not be installed until 1967, when in fact it could have been used on 1966 models.

It said the four finally installed the devices on 1966 models because of pressure from manufacturers outside the auto industry.

Thomas C. Mann, former undersecretary of state who is president of the Automobile Manufacturers Association, said the suit "is based on a profound misunderstanding of the cooperative program" of the automakers to control pollution.

"We greatly regret the sudden decision of the Department of Justice to attack the industry's 15-year-long cooperative program to develop and perfect motor vehicle emission controls."

The Justice Department listed several other companies which it said were co-conspirators, but not defendants.

These were the Checker Motor Corp. of Kalamazoo, Mich.; Diamond T Motor Car Co. of Cleveland; International Harvester Co. of Chicago; Studebaker Corp. of South Bend, Ind.; Kaiser Jeep Corp. of Oakland, Calif.; and Mack Trucks, Inc. of New York.

The suit asked that the defendants be ordered not to restrict trade, not to restrict publicity of antipollution activity and to make available patent licenses and production know-how to applicants interested in developing antipollution equipment.

Car Thief Sure Didn't Expect This

A would-be auto thief picked the wrong car Friday night. Benton Harbor police said the owner spotted the car being driven away and gave chase, forcing the driver to go into a snowbank on Cedar street.

The owner, Perry Lee Smith, of 469 Cherry street, Benton Harbor, said he pulled the driver from the car, but the person broke away and ran off. Smith told police that he and his wife had been unloading groceries and that he was going back for another bag of groceries when he saw the car being driven away.

According to Smith the driver turned from Cherry onto Cedar and got the car stuck in a snowbank. The car was not damaged.

Approximately 40 members of the Berrien County Firemen's association reviewed a new film "One Man's Family" at a recent meeting of the association.

The meeting was held at Riverside fire station, Three Oaks, with Wes Zeiger, fire chief, serving as host. Ken Stanton, assistant director of the Western Actuarial bureau of Chicago, spoke and showed the film.

The newest fire safety film will be released in March for general viewing at the fire department instruction conference to be held in Memphis, Tenn.

Youth Will Be Returned To Berrien

Berrien county sheriff's Sgt. Paul Mills and Coloma Patrolman Ron Weber left for Brentwood, N.H., Friday to extradite Daniel Schmidt, 19, to Michigan to face a breaking and entering charge.

Coloma police Chief Kenneth Unruh said Schmidt is charged with breaking into Harding's Friendly market, Ryno road, Coloma, in March 1967.

Unruh said he was notified yesterday by the Newton, N.H. police department that Schmidt was being held in the Rockingham county jail. Unruh said Schmidt has waived extradition.

Unruh said his police department learned Schmidt was in New Hampshire and asked the Newton police chief to arrest him. Schmidt had a previous address of Green avenue, Benton Harbor.

Republicans Accused Of Child's Play

House Democrats Snipe At Senate

LANSING (AP) — Democrats in the House of Representatives have warned that the next two years will be wasted if republicans in the Senate continue to engage in child's play.

Leaders in the Democratic-controlled House of Representatives bristled Friday after the Republican-dominated Senate recessed before agreeing to a schedule for this year's session. In addition, the Senate attempted to limit House spending for additional office space.

'CHILD'S PLAY'

"The next two years here will be wasted if this kind of thing goes on," said House Speaker Pro-Tem Stanley J. Davis, D-Grand Rapids. "It's degrading to see adults engaging in child's play."

Failure to agree on a legislative schedule has forced the House to meet and adjourn in two-day periods until Jan. 27.

House Speaker William A. Ryan, D-Detroit, who wanted a two week recess, said the House will meet at 8 p.m. Monday and adjourn just after midnight, then leave until Friday morning.

This will enable the lower chamber to abide by a rule that they meet every two days, Ryan said.

Senate Republicans also passed a proposed rule that will limit spending for additional office space for House members.

Democrats in the lower chamber say they will not agree to the proposal.

"We're going to have the space we need or we won't go ahead with any legislation until we do," said Rep. George F. Montgomery, D-Detroit. "It takes both Houses to pass any legislation."

IGNORES RULING

Ryan announced that he would ignore the Senate rule and proceed with plans to move several committee rooms to a building near the capitol.

Ryan added that House members have been cramped for space for a long time, and that the relocation of committee rooms will provide more office space for legislators's offices.

In addition, Ryan said that a recount of a Nov. 5 election contest has been cancelled. Former Rep. Jack Gingrass of Iron Mountain, who was defeated by John D. Payant, R-Kingsford, had asked for a recount, Ryan said.

Driver Gets Jail, Fine

SOUTH HAVEN — Ronald Lee Gun, 22, South Haven, pleaded guilty in district court yesterday to a charge of driving on a revoked driver's license.

Gunter was ordered by Judge Donald Goodwillie, Jr., to pay $78 in fine and court costs, and spend three days in jail.

Gunter demanded preliminary examination to a second charge of violation of the financial responsibility law, and requested an attorney. Examination was set for January 20.

Gunter was arrested by state police in South Haven township.
